A FEARFUL WARNING.

How the Death of a Gentle is Explained by a Saint.

Oh, how holy, how full of charity, how replete with the best instincts of humanity our brethren (or at least, some of them) are! Yesterday, a big Saint of the Fourth ward, who carries on a big business on the west side of Main street, north of Z. C. M. I.'s mouse-trap, met a well-known Liberal whose out-spoken freedom of thought on the wrongs and inequities of some of the priest-hood plans and plots has rung from the Weber river to Lake Michigan. Said the Saintly soap-seller:

"Well, you're back from Chicago? How did you like it?"

"First-rate. It felt like being in a free country."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that here my chest used to ache from being cramped up; and there I could draw a free breath of air and inhale the oxygen of civilization."

"Oxen! we have as many here as they have in Chicago."

"Well, I said oxen."

"Oh, that's something good to eat. I am there (stroking his ex-aldermanic, prophetic paunch). But why did you go out there at all and defy, denounce and otherwise revile your father and your mother?"

"Sir, I did nothing of the kind."

"You did, by going back on the religion you were born in."

"Allow me to remark that this was a natural accident for which I can't be held responsible."

"But your training?"

"Was that of a poultry-yard."

"And your feeding?"

"My father owed me that."

"And your education?"

"I never got any in a Mormon school except what I picked up myself."

"Now, you don't mean to say that you renounce your family?"

"By no means. Only renounce and denounce that god-damned system which blasted the heart and destroyed the happiness of my mother."

"So you mean to fight the Mormons still?"

"No, sir."

"How's that, after what you have said?"

"I mean to fight the Mormon system, but not the men or women belonging to it."

"Well, do you know what the result will be?"

"I do not know, but I hope that my feeble efforts will help in bringing down the Moloch of Mormonism from its blood-stained pedestal of priestcraft."

"Do you really think you'll accomplish anything?"

"Well, I can try, as Joseph Smith did in Kirkland and Brigham Young in Utah."

"But where will you end?"

"In the consciousness of having tried my best to break down a heinous and hideous hierarchy."

"Still, won't you take any warning from a friend?"

"Warning? How?"

"Didn't you know Robert Wilson, the painter?"

"Of course, I did; and always thought he was a man of much brain, if too much tongue under inappropriate circumstances."

"Now I have you. On the late election he reviled the People's party candidates, who are chosen from and by the appointed of the Lord, and predicted their defeat. But what should occur? The people of the Lord were lifted up into victory by the strength of His arm and succeeded in carrying the election; while Wilson had to leave town next day, and died three days later. Don't you see the finger of God?"

"No; I see the signs of a fanatical imbecile in you, though."

"Never you mind; you look out. The Lord has his quiver full of arrows to suit all of you revilers and blasphemers, even The Democrat and Tribune prevaricators. Amen."

ON THE FIRST.

"Junius Junior" Takes a Mental Hamble.

ED. DEMOCRAT: To-day, so my dear spouse tells me, is the last of March. Then why should I not be as mad as a March hare, especially with all the collectors of bills at mine own and the collectors' heels? But, never mind; I think I can stand them off better than you. I, the Rev. Bishop Robert M. McQuarrie of the Second Ecclesiastical Ward of Ogden City, will be able to stand off the brethren (and some sisters in the sprinkling) who will be after him in a day or two for the uncalculated and uncharitable language used by him the other day, on the occasion of the funeral of a little girl who had died in Lehi, of poison (though strychnine) not the tenth part as poisonous as the tongue of a fanatical priest.

If I, Mr. Editor, were to tell you how even solid and staunch Mormons in this city have been talking about that burly and almost burlesque exhibition of the lowest fanaticism, you would hardly believe me. I wouldn't, myself, hadn't I heard some of them express the indignation and feelings of this writer and womanly disgust at the villainous vituperation of the memory of the little victim. If names are needed, they can be furnished. Suffice it say that even one of the bishops (God save the mark!) most intimate friends admitted to this writer and others that McQuarrie said at least half what he was accused of.

Mr. Editor, it occurs to my mind that these should not be the feelings of men who claim to believe in, and allow up the example of Him whom St. Matthew, in Chapter VII, verses 1 and 2 reports as having said: "Judge not that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged; and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again." But what would you? People who think they have a double-nickel-plated-back-action patent on the salvation in the Kingdom to come cannot be reasonably expected to extend any of that beautiful and grand charity (the only and true essence of Christianity and humanity) of which St. Paul speaks so touchingly and to all but Mormon bishops convincingly in his First Epistle to the Corinthians, Chapter XIII.

Had I not a Mormon Bishop on the shaly look of my criticism just now, I might quote Shakespeare also; but having just tried to take the measure out of my mouth after reading a Deseret News editorial, I tell on Byron's "Child Harold," and had not to go any further than the first line of the first stanza of the first canto, where such as Bp. McQuarrie are eulogized in this classical apostrophe: "Oh, thou! in hell as deemed of heavenly birth."

By the way to wind up this rignarole of Bible and Byron-What's the High Council of the Weber Stake of Zion going to do about Bishop McQuarrie giving the hyena-like impulses of the church
